THIRD-PARTY ACCREDITATION

Referrals (second-party recommendations) are incredibly important to us, and we have plenty to say when it comes to demonstrating our own competence and capabilities (first party recommendations). But it is through third-party accreditations from established, respected, regulated bodies that you can really be assured of the extremely high quality of our work.

Our manufacturing and installation services have been assessed by a UKAS accredited laboratory to provide third party certification of competence through the Certifire and FIRAS schemes.

We are accredited by Warrington Fire and – unusually – hold both FIRAS and Certifire accreditations for Aluprof and Reynaers fire rated products.

Certifire is an independent, third-party, UKAS accredited certification scheme.

FIRAS is a voluntary, third-party certification scheme for installation contractors of both passive and active fire protection systems, operated by Warringtonfire and accredited by UKAS to BS EN ISO/IEC 17065:2012.

These accreditations from independent expert bodies are the gold standard when it comes to proving competence, which is why they're so important to us. They mean you can be assured of the performance, quality, reliability and traceability of our products, systems and work.

For us, third party accreditations are a matter of pride. For you, they are the assurance you need to know that your work is going to be done to the highest possible standards.

We are the first fire rated glazing company to have been accepted into membership of the ASFP. To have successfully met their entry requirements is a testament to our competence and offers us access to further industry leading training and support.

MANUFACTURING EXPERTISE

We have been installing fire rated glazing and its associated framework systems for over 20 years, during which time we have firmly established ourselves as experts in the field.

We were early adopters of fabrication software and were quick to implement the consistently high levels of quality and efficiency the technology could afford.

We have been using CNC machinery for over 15 years, and are expert users of the Logikal software system.

All this combines to produce industry-leading levels of efficiency. The sheer volume of our fire rated production means we are able to offer both value and quality.

Furthermore, all our fire rated installations come with a tablet-based inspection and test system, the reports of which are retained indefinitely for your reference.
